TOUR THE S.S. KEEWATIN

Saturday July 21 2018

1:00 PM

$17 per person

(children with adults free)

S.S. Keewatin began her service in the Canadian Pacific Railroad Great Lakes Steamship fleet in 1907. Built in Glasgow, Scotland on the Clyde, by the same culture and Edwardian tradition as RMS Titanic (built in Belfast Northern Ireland) and five years older than the Titanic herself,

Keewatin was designed with comfort, class and beauty in mind as she transported passengers and freight on a two and a half day journey across the Great Lakes from Port McNicoll to Fort William and Port Arthur (now Thunder Bay) Ontario.

The Keewatin now stands not only as the last remaining Great Lakes Passenger liner, but as the last of the Edwardian built passenger liner steamships in the world.

Friends of Keewatin offer a variety of tours that take visitors through the main decks, engine room, wheelhouse. The original equipment on display includes the ship's wheel, binnacle, telegraph, radar, and more.

Bring the family and make a day of it.
After the steamship tour, join us for
